

Preparing for Summer

Looking ahead now will reduce the impact the summer conditions will have on your stock and business.

It's important to plan to get your farm to the right level of performance, and set-up feed/supply (both quality and quantity) for when your farm could go brown this summer.

